

GENEROSITY

Generosity is the spirit with which we respond to the needs around us, including but not limited to finances. We previously studied stewardship (how we manage the gifts God has given us).

This month, we examine how to meet needs and give good gifts to others.

Challenge of the Week

Generosity

With our finances. Make no mistake, December comes with some big expenses. Many of us enjoy buying gifts for our loved ones. We spend time and effort and money finding that perfect gift. Our charitable giving, however, seldom inspires us to go to such lengths. We choose an amount to give and most of the time that amount doesn't really "hurt" us. This week, challenge yourself or your household to give generously. Maybe that means matching the amount of a charitable gift to the amount you spent on yourself or one of your children.
