

Challenge of the Week

Witnessing/Evangelism

It is said of the church that they are the only army that shoots their wounded. Meaning, the way we treat one another in the church is not a very inviting life to invite others into. For example, Rather than envy the church is to be generous or rather than bitter the church is to be forgiving; the church should be a community where people long to enter because of what they see in the relationships of those inside. This step of outreach invites us to consider where we are not displaying the life Christ intended in relationship to others. Confess this place, seek to reconcile this relationship, and work towards letting the relationships inside the church reflect Christ and his life to those outside the church.
